Ladies, Gentlemen:

I highly recommend Rebecca Ezell for a teaching position in your school system. As Rebecca's advisor, field supervisor, and course instructor I have been afforded a unique perspective on her overall teaching abilities and professional dispositions. One of the most obvious attributes that Rebecca will bring to her art classroom is a broad range of teaching strategies and the ability to make art relevant to all learners. She also brings a great deal of classroom management experience from her work with her own non-profit organization called Art Stop for Kids. She will be able to hit the ground running her first year in the classroom and not have as much of a learning curve that is common for new teachers.

Miss Ezell distinguished herself while in the MAT program by conducting a field study on how Piaget’s Theory of Cognitive Development appears in a K-5 art classroom. Her study was one of the best I have ever evaluated and was formally recognized at our College of Education awards ceremony on April 27th.

If you would like to discuss Rebecca’s qualifications in detail please call 478-445-2359 or email me at kevin.crabb@gcsu.edu. I will be happy to answer any questions you have about this exceptional teacher.

Sincerely,

Kevin Crabb
